News from Iraq

Politics

- A leading Iraqi legal expert has said on Sunday that the decision of the Federal Court's Judge to commit the Chairman of the Parliament, who is the oldest MP, has not been settled regarding the differences in the court case.
- Iraqi Interior Minister Jawad Al Boulani announced police forces readiness to take over security command in all Iraq provinces.
- Baghdad's governor announced Saturday the formation of security, executive and service committees, in cooperation with several other offices, ahead of the forthcoming Arab Summit, scheduled to convene in Baghdad next March.
- Observers ruled on Sunday that the documents published by the Wikileaks web site would have an impact on the security and political developments in Iraq, noting those papers did not bring about anything new. "The security scene in Iraq would not be affected to a great extent by these documents or any other documents. The havoc and shocks Iraq has already been through are far exceeding any media depiction of the importance of these documents, strategist Juma Abdullah Motlak told Aswat al-Iraq news agency.

Economics

- The International Monetary Fund Wednesday said it has lowered Iraq's oil production forecast, after a disappointing 2010. In its first review report of its February $3.7bn standby loan to Iraq, the IMF said it expected Iraqi oil production to reach 2.2mn barrels per day (bpd) in 2011, against the 2.9mn it forecast in February.
